Summary of Social Housing Assessments 2013

Key Findings

1. Background

1.1 This report provides an overview of the key findings of the Summary of Social Housing Assessments 2013. The assessment is a count by housing authorities of households qualified for social housing support within their functional area. A national summary of social housing assessments is carried out on a periodic basis and provides an important insight into the level of need for social housing support across the country.

1.2 The assessment is carried out under Section 21 of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2009, which requires all housing authorities to prepare a summary, in the form prescribed by the Minister, of the social housing assessments carried out in its administrative area.

1.3 Section 21 replaces Section 9 of the Housing Act 1988, under which previous assessments were carried out. A key change in the new arrangements is in relation to the basis of need under which an applicant is deemed to require social housing support, as set out in the new regulations. For this reason, the results of this summary are not directly comparable with previous statutory needs assessments.

2. Methodology

2.1 Statutory Instrument No. 26 was signed at the end of January 2013 and set out the form to be used by housing authorities in submitting information. An explanatory Circular was issued by the Department of the Environment, Community and Local Government in early February 2013.

2.2 The Circular indicated that housing authorities may be required to do one or more of the following in order to fulfil the assessment requirements:

1. Re-examine or re-interview households that have already been approved for social housing support,
2. Ask households to confirm that they are still seeking social housing support, or
3. Obtain additional information on a household's current circumstances, including its housing situation, household composition and income.

2.3 The assessment is based on the number of households that were qualified for social housing support at May 7th, 2013. Once all the data was received, it was then collated and duplicates and those already in local authority, voluntary and co-operative housing or the Rental Accommodation Scheme were removed, to identify the net national social housing support need. The dataset was then passed to the Housing Agency for analysis.

2.4 Following testing of the data, coding issues were identified which took some time to resolve. While most of these issues have now been clarified, a small number are ongoing. A particular issue remains in relation to some of the net income data, which is being resolved. However, information has been captured on each household's income sources (e.g. social welfare, employment income, other) and this is used in place of income figures in this report.

3. Key Findings

3.1 The preliminary results from the 2013 Summary of Social Housing Assessments are set out in Tables A1.1 – 10 of Appendix 1. Appendix 2 is a breakdown of the data by housing authority. The main findings are outlined below:

3.2 Overall Total

89,872 households were assessed as qualified for housing support as of May 7th 2013. This represents a reduction of 8,446 households (or 9%) on the 2011 Assessment total, but is still significantly above the 2008 figure of 56,249 (Table A1.1). Please note that these figures are not strictly comparable as different methods were used in these assessments. The 2011 Assessment was a snap shot of those registered with housing authorities as in housing need at that time, but authorities were not required to reassess applicants for that Assessment to confirm that those on the list were still seeking and in need of social housing support.

3.3 Age

Half of main applicants (i.e. those named first on the application for social housing support) were between 25 and 40 years of age (Table A1.2). Only 5% were aged 60 years or over.

3.4 Nationality

The majority (71%) of those qualified for social housing support are Irish citizens; 29% are non-Irish nationals with most of this group coming from other EU/EAA countries (Table A1.3).

3.5 Employment

For the most part, those who were found to qualify for social housing support were dependent on social welfare, one in eight (15%) were in some form of employment and a further 2% were on an incentivised back to work scheme (Table A1.4). Social welfare was the only source of income for 72% of households and a further 6% had income from employment and social welfare. 11% had income from employment only (Table A1.5).

3.6 Household composition

Single person households made up the largest household type (44%), followed by single adults with a child or children (30%) – Table A1.6.

3.7 Need

Over half of households (52%) who qualified for social housing support had their main need categorised as ‘dependent on rent supplement’. The next largest cohort (20,349 or 23%) had their main need categorised as ‘unsuitable accommodation due to particular household circumstances’. It is likely that this category is populated by households not in receipt of rent supplement, but with a difficulty in affording private accommodation.

In only 1% of cases, accommodation was deemed unfit and in another 3% it was overcrowded – Table A1.7. This table also gives, for the first time, more detailed information in relation to different types of disabilities.

3.8 Specific accommodation requirements

11% of households were identified as having a specific accommodation requirement - 4% of households due to a disability, 3% due to homelessness, 2% of cases required Traveller-specific accommodation and the same proportion had an age-specific accommodation requirement. The majority of those qualified for social housing support (89%) had a general accommodation requirement – Table A1.8.

3.9 Tenure

Three-quarters (75%) of households qualified for social housing support were living in the private rented sector – two-thirds of which were receiving rent supplement. About one-in-five were living with their parents, relatives or friends - Table A1.9.

3.10 Waiting times

While a quarter of households qualified for social housing support in the twelve months before the assessment, about one-fifth did so more than five years ago (Table A1.10).

4. Further analysis

4.1 Work is continuing on the analysis of the Social Housing Assessments data received. It is proposed that final detailed datasets will be assessed and analysed in conjunction with the housing authorities, so as to facilitate a targeted approach in addressing the specific needs highlighted in this report.
